

SMART PEOPLE: MANAGING AND RETAINING GIFTED EMPLOYEES™

We all want smart employees. Scientists, IT professionals, Engineers, Managers. It is a war for talent that must be won. But do we really know what to do we have once we hire them? And do we manage in a way that actualizes their talents and retains the gifted employees?

Often smart employees apparently seem to come with a whole host of annoying, disturbing and exasperating traits. These perceived negative qualities often come from not understanding the qualities and components that make up the package that comes with giftedness.

Though we know they are brilliant and required to compete in today's market they also can seem:

- Abusive
- Disorganized
- Low self esteem
- Contrary
- Condescending
- Self destructive
- Stupid
- Inscrutable
- Arrogant
- Difficult
- Clingy
- Self absorbed
- Aloof
- Overly Emotional
- Argumentative

Most people do not understand “what comes with the package” of giftedness. Consequently motives and behaviors of gifted employees are misunderstood and responses of managers are often counterproductive.

This workshop unravels the mysteries of understanding and managing gifted employees. The workshop will give you tools and diagnostics to better understand and make better choices about how keep your brightest people satisfied and productive while keeping your sanity.
